FROM THE BLUE LETTERS:

Whatever gives a continuing increase to life in any type of experience in which life for the moment is most strongly focused is enhancement and enhancement of any sort is healing at work. (578) SAIJIN JACK, LIZANNE LEDBETTER McCLENON

Times of real stress are soon discovered in clear seeing to be periods of potentiality. (578) ELIZABETH McCLUNG - HILMA DUEY, LIZANNE McCLENON, BILL ROCHE, DIANA ROCHE

Nature provides cyclic periods of special agony, certain especially in connection with reproduction or the continuance of group life, and these intensifications may be used properly to heighten perspective and clarify understanding because they occur normally. (578) MAYTE PICCO-KLINE

There can be no spiritual healing without a well-defined love of God, and this means that every healer must have a deep respect for every functioning aspect of organism in life about him before ever he can expect to have much success in aiding those about him. (579) PATTI HUDSON - BARBARA ANN HOSACK

But we know also that divine love permeates the world in which we live and that what seems evil to us must have an aspect of good in God's sight. (579) WARREN NEWMAN, JACKIE SOVAS

Thus healing becomes in general a constructive harassment of unworthy acceptance. (580) KENT McCLUNG

Healing must be encouraging and diagnosis must be in terms of the quickening opportunity of the soul's moment of broader perspective. (581) TEG GREEN - MAYTE PICCO-KLINE, JAMES SHARPE

FROM FICTIONAL SYMBOLISM: ("B")

Civilization may learn then that it will endure as it succeeds in culturing difference for its own stimulation, even as it outwardly sustains itself by its normality or resistance to modifying factors. (X) p. 30 PATTI HUDSON, SAIJIN JACK, JACKIE SOVAS

FROM PROPHETIC KNOWLEDGE: ("J")

Whatever else there is no spirituality of any sort until men have developed the capacity for working together, and while formalism is destructive to the very essence of religion the religious forms nevertheless are the means to man's highest realization. (VI) p.17
PATTI HUDSON, LIZANNE LEDBETTER McCLENON

Renaissance is the very core of existence on every level of being, and prophecy calls to man to be reborn in his highest rather than lowest aspect. (IX) P. 27 MICHAEL ELLIOTT, CAROL ZENGARA

In the way that nothing is necessary to God for God's being, so nothing is essential to man for his being or to nature for its existence other than the act of continuance by which man is what he is or nature in turn continues to be nature. (IX) p. 26 TEG GREEN, WARREN NEWMAN

All students are invited to participate in the monthly Thesaurus rhythm. To share your selections for inclusion in the Thesaurus, just choose one sentence from each of the series, Blue Letters, Philosophy Lessons and Bible Lessons issued in a calendar month. Type them up or write them down and send them by post or email to reach me by the 10th of the following month.

What a joy to do the Thesaurus each month! Sincere appreciation for each of our contributors who send nuggets of gold from their expeditions into our current lessons. Remember that the names in smaller italicized type are matches from the last time that lesson cycled. Fun!
